Dear Paula,

Re: PADA National Anxiety Disorders Conference

I am writing to thank you for your keynote presentation on the prevention of anxiety disorders in children at the PADA Conference on the 27th March.

Your presentation was very engaging, compelling and provocative and this was certainly appreciated by the audience. Your passion for your work and the wonderful outcomes in the Friends program are really inspiring.

Feedback from participants indicated that the majority of people found the keynote presentations the most useful aspect of the conference, and many participants mentioned your presentation in particular.

I really appreciate your contribution and am sure that your inclusion in the program contributed to the success of the conference. It was particularly good of you to come straight from a tiring overseas trip.

It was a great pleasure to meet you and I hope that we will be able to work together in the future.

With regards,
Yours sincerely
