Dear Paula,

Re: National Community Conference on Anxiety

I am writing to thank you for your keynote presentation on Resilience and workshop on Children, Adolescents and Anxiety at Reconnexion's inaugural consumer conference held on 8 October 2011.

This conference was designed to help people with anxiety disorders, their family and friends, find the best path to recovery by informing them of effective treatment and strategies. Your presentation certainly helped us achieve this.

Your passion and energy for your work is inspiring, your presentations were engaging and provocative and provided one of the highlights of the conference.

I really appreciate your contribution to the conference and look forward to working with you in the future to deliver great conferences to both clinicians and consumers alike.

Best regards
